

Joe Pelletier's

GREATEST HOCKEY LEGENDS.COM

The Hockey History Blog

HOME A B C D E F G H I J K L M N O P Q R S T UVW XYZ LINKS HOCKEY BOOKS

THE HOCKEY HISTORY BLOG

I'm Joe Pelletier, freelance hockey journalist and the Hockey History Blogger!

Why I created this website - Keeping alive the memories of former NHL (see alphabetical listing), International and Female hockey players.

Contact Me

Email: teamcanada72@gmail.com
Facebook: /GreatestHockeyLegends
Twitter: @HockeyLegends

Blog content © Joe Pelletier
Also see: HockeyBookReviews.com

GHL DONATIONS

I take pride in offering my work for free. If you like my work, and you think it's worth buying me a cup of coffee, donate a buck. I'm going to keep doing my work for free keep doing my work for free because I love doing this, but I'd greatly appreciate your support!

Donate

HOCKEY BOOKS

Don Cherry's Hockey Stories, Part 2
Don Cherry

NOVEMBER 30, 2006

The Night Pat Quinn Knocked Out Bobby Orr

Normally a 10-0 blowout playoff victory hardly ranks as memorable. But April 2, 1969 is a night that Bobby Orr, Pat Quinn and the players and fans who witnessed the night will never forget. Neither will Don Cherry, who brings this night up on an irregular basis on Coaches Corner.

On that night, the intense dislike between the Boston Bruins and Toronto Maple Leafs reached its peak. By the end of the night the Bruins had a strangle-hold on the playoff series, Forbes Kennedy set NHL records for penalty minutes in several categories, Bobby Orr had a concussion and the still unknown Pat Quinn was introduced as hockey's newest villain.

Quinn, a big and aggressive blueliner still trying to establish himself in the NHL, was no stranger to the "gallery gods" of Boston Gardens. They had been calling for his head since late in the regular season when the much bigger Quinn and Bruins superstar Bobby Orr got involved in a heated after-the-whistle exchange. The resulting dog-pile never settled the issue, leaving the conclusion to be written at a later date.

That date proved to be a few weeks later in the playoffs. The game itself was no contest, as the Bruins had a 6-0 lead late in the second period. That's when Quinn caught Orr by surprise.

Orr was breaking out of Bruins territory with his head uncharacteristically down. Quinn showed a great read on the play, and pinched in at the blue line to hold the zone. Quinn slammed hard in to the unsuspecting Orr, scoring a clear knockout. Orr left the ice with a concussion, but played the next game despite complaining of pounding headaches.

SEARCH THIS BLOG

powered by Google™

BEST OF GREATEST HOCKEY LEGENDS

- * The Greatest Players All Time
- * Hockey's Most Important Players
- * 10 Greatest NHL Seasons
- * The Gretzky Trade
- * Greatest Hockey Photos
- * Black Hockey History
- * Gambling and Sports
- * Is Hockey Fixed?
- * NHL Overseas History
- * NHL vs. Soviets
- * 1979 Challenge Cup
- * Rendez Vous '87
- * NHL Draft History
- * Deadline Trades by Stanley Cup Champs
- * Trade Deadline Activity since 1980
- * Trade Deadline: Draft Picks to Superstars
- * British Columbia Hockey History
- * Terrace is Hockeyville!
- * Terrace is Hockeyville!

STANLEY CUP HISTORY

- * Stanley Cup Playoff Legends
- * All Time Scoring Leaders
- * Conn Smythe Trophy Winners
- * Stanley Cup Capsules

Best Price CDNS 18.77
or Buy New CDNS 18.77
Buy from Privacy Information

Blog content © Joe Pelletier

SUBSCRIBE TO

 Posts

 Comments

The grainy video evidence of the hit is inconclusive at best, but many, outside of Boston anyways, believe the hit was clean. Quinn was assessed a 5 minute major for elbowing on the play, but ultimately referee John Ashley was penalizing him for hitting the game's greatest player, or at least for causing the resulting donnybrook. Forbes Kennedy, playing in what proved to be his last game, was front and center in the aftermath of the hit. When all was said and done he had set NHL records for most penalties in a game (8), most minutes (38 - since bettered), most penalties in a period (6) and most penalty minutes in a period (34). He was also suspended for three games, reportedly for punching a linesman en route to the locker room.

The Boston fans even tried to get in on the act. Quinn had to be escorted from the penalty box because some of the fans began hitting him. Garbage rained down in Quinn's direction. Finally police were brought in to safely escort Quinn to the dressing room.

Posted by Joe Pelletier at 11:24 PM

- * Longest Games In History
- * Game 7 Record Holders
- * Reconciled Playoff MVPs
- * Stanley Cup Thefts
- * Stanley Cup Traditions
- * Stanley Cup Engravers
- * Errors On The Cup
- * The Stovepipe Cup
- * Playoff Beards
- * NHL Playoff Trivia
- * 1905 Dawson City Nuggets
- * 1907 Kenora Thistles
- * 1925 Hamilton Tigers
- * 1950s Montreal Canadiens
- * 1967 Toronto Maple Leafs

OLYMPIC HOCKEY HISTORY

- 1920 - Antwerp, Belgium
- 1924 - Chamonix, France

<http://www.greatesthockeylegends.com/2006/11/night-pat-quinn-knocked-out-bobby-orr.html>