Grand Bank residents Greg Dominaux, and son Charlie, attended the Chevrolet Safe and Fun Hockey Festival hosted by NHL legend Bobby Orr in Corner Brook Aug. 27-28.

It was a tremendous opportunity for both Greg, as a coach, as well as Charlie, as a player.

One of four festivals conducted across Canada for players ages 5-8, it consisted of on ice instruction, off ice sessions, team buildings activities and parent seminars. Along with an opportunity to hang out with the Boston Bruins' No. 4, each participant received a jersey and autographed items.

Sixty youth from the across province won access to the event by filling out an on-line entry form at 'www.chevroletohockey.ca'.

The Chevrolet Safe and Fun Hockey Program aims to inform all involved in the game of the values of developing a positive attitude towards healthy competition, cooperative teamwork, fair play and grace under pressure.

It enables all participants to become contributing members of the hockey family, develop a good value system and experience a sense of personal responsibility all while having fun.

Greg's wife, Renita, attended the parent sessions and said they were very informative and reinforced the fact hockey is a fun game.

One of the event's highlights for Charlie came when Orr tackled him to the ice, after he had scored on the hockey great using a rubber chicken!

Orr has said he's worried many young players never get to experience the pure enjoyment of the game.

OPPORTUNITY OF LIFETIME – One of the best players to play in the NHL, and certainly a player who revolutionized the position of defence with his offensive style of play, Bobby Orr was in Corner Brook last month. Charlie Dominaux of Grand Bank won an on-
